GOING TO GOLDFIELD

Reports Say Funston Will Take Charge of Federal Troops.

Goldfield, Nev., Dec. 11.—It was announced here last night that General Funston is to come to Goldfield to personally look over the situation here. More troops it was also said, may be sent.
Governor John Sparks arrived yesterday afternoon from Carson and had a conference with Colonel Alfred Reynolds, in command of the Federal troops here. Meetings of the executive committee of the Goldfield Miners' union and of the Goldfield Mine Owners' association were held last night. It was reported that the federal authorities intend to take the conduct of affairs out of the hands of the state and county officials and that martial law will be declared in Goldfield immediately upon the arrival of General Funston.

The mine operators here apparently are determined to carry their intention to resume operations on Thursday.

The arrival of Governor Sparks in Goldfield yesterday has led to many rumors of impending trouble but beyond the little excitement caused by the presence of the governor two days ahead of the time announced nothing has transpired to materially affect the situation.

Yesterday afternoon Governor Sparks, accompanied by his representative here, Colonel William Cox went to the headquarters of Colonel Reynolds and an hour was spent in going over the situation in Goldfield.

Governor Sparks was visited at his hotel by many prominent mine owners and members and officials of the Goldfield Mine Owners' association but he denied that any official conference between himself and the officials of the association had taken place since his arrival. He was also visited by officials of the Goldfield Miners' union, who assured him that the union has been and is still earnestly endeavoring to effect a peaceable settlement of difficulties between themselves and the mine operators.

The universal impression is that martial law will not be declared until after the arrival of General Funston, but that preparations will be made at once for the work which will have to be performed by the troops as soon as such action is taken.

San Francisco, Dec. 11.—General Funston last night said that he would leave today with two or three staff officers for Goldfield for the purpose of looking over the situation. He wishes it made plain that he was not coming there to take command of the troops or in any way to supersede Colonel Reynolds. Neither is it his intention to order additional troops to the mining regions.

General Funston expects to spend only two or three days in Goldfield.

Bells Corners

Bells Corners, Dec. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Sager are visiting their son at Gladwin, Michigan, this week.

Mr. James Price, of Marion was the guest of his parents Mr. and Mrs. David Price, south of the Corners over last Sunday.

Carl Clayton, the son of Sam Clayton, near Bell's Corners, was the recipient of a fractured wrist last Sunday evening, caused by a fall while at play in his home.

Dr. Shira of LaRue was summoned over the phone who gave it medical attention. Since then the boy is improving nicely.

Mr. Simon Vansickle, who was living west of LaRue has moved on the E. M. Dutton farm where he contemplates raising vegetables for the Marion markets the coming year.

Great efforts are being made to have a Christmas Tree at Bells Corners. Don't forget to visit it and bring your gifts.

Dave Drake of LaRue is in our locality at present shredding corn for the farmers.

Mrs. Ira Carter returned last Monday evening from a week's visit with her sister Mrs. Thompson near Herod, Ohio.

Mr. Joe Severns has met with some very favorable weather for picking and now is pushing the work very rapidly.

Everybody is attending the big sale of Imbody and Kinnaman today of their farming outfit.

Mr. John O'Day who was burned out a couple of weeks ago, is now living in a hay car near where the residence was burned.

Mr. Fred Jolliffe is in Union county at present attending the funeral of his mother.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.— There was nothing notable about the assembling of Congress, except the look of anxiety on the faces of most of the Republican members, who fear that the Republican party will be held responsible for the panic and the business depression that has set in. Republican politicians are poor losers for after years of success they had come to believe that their party was invincible, and to discover suddenly for the panic was a great surprise to most of them—that the prosperity bubble had vanished has left them with drooping wings and crests.
The road leaders are trying to resuscitate them and urging that a bold face be put on a bad matter. Even the President's Message betrays this disconsolate feeling, and instead of the bold and boasting statements presented in other messages there is an apologetic vein running through it, which indicates that Mr. Roosevelt was also surprised and has not yet recovered his serenity and the fear of the political effect of the panic upon his party.

The hotels and the lobbies of Congress are already filled up with an army of lobbyists who always congregate when a Republican Congress is in session, which is the magnet that draws such a conglomeration of patriots, all shouting for "the old flag and an appropriation."

The Democrats naturally feel encouraged by seeing the defection of their political opponents, and all feel that if the party can unite on a platform and candidates the chances of carrying the necessary majority would be very favorable. But no truthful chronicler of events can overlook the fact that there still exist divergent factions in the party on the question of policies and candidates.
This was emphasized by the "split" between Senator Daniel, of Virginia, and Mr. Bryan, who the Senator believes is trying to dictate to the party new and untried policies, which he views as undemocratic. As Senator Daniel was one of the warmest and most able supporters of Mr. Bryan in 1896, and is a personal friend, his criticism can only be intended for the benefit of Mr. Bryan and the party generally. His advice to Mr.
Bryan in 1900 that to force the Silver issue into the platform, would be fatal, is now followed by the advice not to dictate new and untried policies, "If you want to succeed," said he to Mr.
Bryan, "you must quit riding rough shod over all the members of the party." Senator Daniel's record of four terms in the United States Senate always voting in the interest of the people, and his leading the delegation from his state to six National Conventions, entitled his opinion to the greatest respect on matters of party policy.

Former Senator Stewart of Nevada, who was an ardent supporter of Mr. Bryan in 1896, has been in the city the past week, he declares that in his opinion, Mr.
Bryan cannot be elected as such new policies as government ownership of railroads, and the government guaranty of deposits in National Banks will lose him the votes of business men, for the amount deposited in state banks would be still unprotected.

I have talked with a large number of congressmen the past few days on the policies the party should pursue and I find that while those who favor the nomination of Mr. Bryan are generally outspoken, there are many who fear that he cannot unite the discordant elements so as to insure success. But there is no effort being made to concentrate on any other candidate. Of course all Democrats will do their best to overcome the handicap. If Mr.
Bryan is nominated.
